Design Your Own Clover

Darlene Z. Millard, Ph.D.
Assistant Director -
4-H Youth Development

4-H is for you – and what you do in 4-H should be determined by what you want to do . . . the things your club decides to do should be the things the members of your club want to do.

you could help by making a survey to see what other people think . . . say so here.

Design your clover now.

Fill in the following information on the clover on back of this sheet.

I would like to learn . . .

- List here the things YOU want to learn.

We could help our community by . . .

- What do you think your community needs?
- What are some things you think your club could do? Whatever they are, list them. If you think My hobbies . . .

- What are your hobbies . . . what do you like to do? It is possible that someone in the group would like to learn about your hobby – or maybe you would like to learn about another's hobby – this will give you a chance to discuss possibilities of learning from each other.

Just for fun we could . . .

- Every 4-H club needs activities “just for fun” . . . what suggestions do you have for this club?
