Introduction

This publication is designed to help experienced and inexperienced leaders and members conduct meetings of high quality and efficiency and give them guidance in organizational structure and functions. Knowledge of parliamentary rules is helpful to participants on every level: members need to be aware of methods of good procedure and leaders need to be knowledgeable in the use of proper techniques.

Good parliamentary procedure ensures justice to everyone, prescribes order, reflects kindness and generosity, provides constructive use of limited time and gives one a sense of self-confidence.

The text of this Pocket Guide to Parliamentary Procedure is in harmony with the best authorities and resources available. It is a streamlined guide adaptable to any size organization or assembly and provides simplified, up-to-date practice and procedure.

Types of Meetings

All organizations conduct their affairs through meetings. Regardless of format, meetings are one of the following types.

1. Regular Meetings – Meetings for which the time and place are usually prescribed in the bylaws or standing rules.
2. Special Meetings – Meetings called for transaction of a special item of business. Procedure usually defined in bylaws.

3. Annual Meetings – Meetings scheduled for hearing reports, electing officers, amending rules and such other business as may need to come for information of members at the close of the organization year.

Electronic Meetings

Electronic Meetings – Bylaws must have provision to allow for conducting an electronic meeting. If done by teleconference, it must be done in a way that allows all participants to hear each other simultaneously, and if done by video conference, they must be able to see each other as well. Special rules of order and standing rules should be adopted with specific details how each participant will be recognized and given the floor.

Order of Business and Agenda

An Order of Business is essential to all meetings in which business of the organization is transacted. It assists the presiding officer and members in proceeding in an orderly way, maintains continuity in the transaction of business and establishes priorities for items of business.

Orders of Business should not be included in the bylaws since the bylaws may never be suspended. The Order of Business should be spelled out in the standing rules or the parliamentary authority. It is recommended that every group adopt a parliamentary authority as a guide. Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, is the most widely accepted authority in both deliberative and legislative assemblies.

An Order of Business differs from an Agenda. The following set forth the basic components of both.

Order of Business: The basic outline of the business proceedings.

1. Call to order.
2. Reading and approval of the minutes.
3. Reports of officers, boards, standing committees.
4. Reports of Special Committees (committees appointed to exist until they have completed a specified task or been discharged).
5. Special Orders (matters which demand special priority).
6. Unfinished Business (never referred to as “old” business), which deals with matters previously introduced but not completed.
7. New Business (to bring a new matter before the organization for discussion).

Agenda:

A schedule of the order of business, noting details. These details indicate items of business, reports, programs, appointments, resolutions and such other specific features as the presiding officer may need to ensure an orderly and courteous transition from item to item in the conduct of business. Careful preparation of an agenda requires familiarity with the rules of the organization, both local and parent, parliamentary practice, minutes of the previous meeting, a calendar of events and commitments, records of adopted policy, the roster of members and names of officers and chairmen.

In a large meeting or a convention, it is important that the agenda be well planned and that each member of the entire session be timed accurately and spaced in efficient and attractive sequence.

The following procedure for an order of business is suggested.

1. Call to Order

Presiding officer raps the gavel once and announces, “The meeting will come to order.”

2. Opening Ceremonies (optional)

3. Roll Call (usually only necessary to establish a quorum and is optional)

4. Reading and Approval of the Minutes

Chair: “The Secretary will read the minutes”; following the reading, the Chair will ask, “Are there any corrections to the minutes?” (Additions and omissions are corrections, therefore not used in this question.) If there are none, the Chair says, “The minutes stand approved as read.” If there are corrections, they are usually made by general consent, and the Chair says, “The minutes stand approved as corrected.”

5. Reports of Officers, Boards and Committees

Chair: “The Treasurer will now report.” Following the report, the Chair will ask, “Are there any questions on the Treasurer’s Report?” If there are no questions, the Chair says, “The report will be filed for audit.” (A Treasurer’s Report is never adopted.)

Officers who have reports will be called on in proper order. The presiding officer should know in advance who is prepared to report.

6. The Board or Executive Committee may be empowered to transact business.

The action taken is read by the Secretary for information as a Report of the Board. If the Report carries a recommendation, action may be taken at the time of the Report or under New Business.

7. Standing Committees are usually called upon in the order in which they are listed. The Chair should know in advance who is prepared to report. If the Report is for information only, no action is taken; if the report brings a recommendation, action may be taken at this time or under New Business. Action on the report is moved by the reporting member.
8. Special Committees are usually called on in the order in which they were appointed. If the Report is given for information, no action is taken; if the Report brings a recommendation, the reporting member may bring the recommendation for action at this point or under New Business.
9. Unfinished Business is business postponed or referred by motion or left unfinished from the previous meeting as recorded in the minutes (not referred to as “old business”).

10. New Business may be introduced by the Chair or by any member. The Chair will ask, “Is there any new business?” at which time there is an opportunity to bring new items of business by motion or resolution.
11. Program (If there is a planned program, the schedule should be optional.)
12. Announcements
13. Adjournment – The Chair asks, “Is there any further business to come before the assembly?” If the Chair hears none, the Chair may declare the meeting adjourned; however, a motion may be made to adjourn the meeting, requiring a second to the motion and a majority vote. The meeting is not adjourned until the Chair declares it adjourned.

Motions

A motion is a proposal to bring a subject to a group for its consideration and action. Motions are not all the same. They fall within certain classes, and some take priority over others. The following explains these classes of motions.

Types of Motions:

1. Main Motions: A main motion is a motion whose introduction brings before the assembly a question or business for consideration when no other business is pending. Only one main motion can be considered at a time, and no other main motion may be introduced until the first one is disposed of in some manner.

2. Subsidiary Motions: Subsidiary motions assist the assembly in treating or disposing of a main motion. Since they relate to the question before the house, it is in order to propose a subsidiary motion when a main motion is still before the assembly. The vote on the subsidiary motion is taken before the action is taken on the main motion. (*p. 60.)
3. Privileged Motions: Privileged motions do not relate to the pending business but deal with special matters of immediate and overriding importance. Privileged motions may interrupt debate before the assembly. (*p. 64.)
4. Incidental Motions: Incidental motions are motions incidental to another motion pending or incidental to other business at hand, such as suspending the rules or closing nominations. (*p. 66.)
5. Motions That Bring a Question Again Before the Assembly: These motions bring a question that has already been considered by the assembly back before the assembly, as in the case of the motions to rescind or take from the table. (*p. 72.)

*See chart of motions and RONR.

Making a Motion

To properly make a motion, the following procedures are followed:

1. Member rises and addresses the Chair.
“Mr. /Madam President or Chairperson.”
2. Chair recognizes the member.

3. Member: “I move that _____ (states motion).”
4. Second to motion (not necessary to stand).
“I second the motion.” If the motion comes as a recommendation from two or more members, the motion does not need a second.
5. Chair states motion: “It has been moved by (name) and seconded that _____.”
6. Discussion: If the motion is debatable, every member has the right to debate; the Chair refrains from debate while presiding. The Chair carefully determines the order in which members are recognized to speak, giving first opportunity to the proposer of the motion. Care should be given to assure that discussion is related to the question.
7. The Chair says, “If there is no further discussion, the motion is _____ (restate motion).”
8. Vote: The Chair says, “All those in favor of _____ (the motion stated) say ‘aye.’ Those opposed say ‘no.’”
9. Result of the vote is stated by the Chair. “The motion is carried” or “the motion is lost.”

Amending a Motion

To amend a motion is to alter or modify the wording of a motion that has already been made.

1. Methods of Amending

Insert

Add (at the end)

Strike out

Strike out and insert (words only)

Substitute (a paragraph)

An amendment must be germane to the main motion; it must relate to the same subject matter.

2. Types of Amendments

Primary – an amendment that applies directly to the main motion.

Secondary – an amendment that applies directly to the primary amendment only.

No amendment beyond the above is in order, and only one of each may be made at one time. It is possible to have a motion, an amendment to the motion and an amendment to the amendment before the assembly at one time.

3. Voting on Amendments

Discussion and vote on secondary amendment.

Discussion and vote on primary amendment as amended (if amendment carried).

Discussion and vote on main motion as amended (if amendments carried).

Most Used Motions

Some of the most often used motions are these. Their purposes are also explained.

Main Motion – a motion to bring a matter before the assembly for discussion and action.

Amendments – primary and secondary amendments are to modify or change a motion. (See “amendments.”)

Postpone Indefinitely – to reject a motion or question pending without taking a direct vote. The effect is to “kill” the main motion.

Refer to a Committee – to delay action; to give more time for consideration or study of the matter.

Postpone to a Definite Time – to delay action on a proposed question to a specified time.

Limit or Extend Debate – to limit by decreasing the allotted time or to extend by increasing the allotted time. (See chart.)

Call for the Previous Question – a motion to determine whether the assembly will cut off debate and vote at once on the pending question (requires two-thirds vote).

Lay on the Table – a motion which enables the assembly to put aside a pending question temporarily; can be brought back by a motion to take from the table (not intended as a killing motion).

Call for Orders of the Day – a request that the prescribed rules of order be followed.

Questions of Privilege (Personal and General) – a motion requesting special privilege for an individual or the assembly.

Recess – to dissolve an assembly temporarily.

Adjourn – to close a meeting officially.

Fix Time and Place to Which to Adjourn – to provide for another meeting (called “adjourned meeting”) to continue business that was not completed in present session.

Point of Order – to request enforcement of the rules of order.

Appeal From the Decision of the Chair – to question a decision of the Chair; an effort to reverse the decision of the Chair on a point of order.

Objection to Consideration – to suppress and prevent discussion of an undesirable or sensitive question (must be raised before debate begins).

Withdraw – to remove a matter for consideration without a vote upon it. (May be made by the mover or by permission of assembly.)

Take From the Table – to take up a matter which has been laid on the table.

Reconsider – to consider or bring back a matter previously voted. Motion to reconsider must be made by voter on prevailing side and must be made on the same day or in the same session.

Rescind – to repeal or annul action previously taken. Requires majority vote with previous notice, two-thirds without notice.

Ratify – to make legal action taken in an emergency.

Chart for Determining When Each Motion Is in Order

In the chart below, the privileged, subsidiary, incidental and main motions are listed in order of rank. The motion at the top takes precedence over all the others, and each of the remaining motions takes precedence over all those below it. A main motion is in order only when no other motion is pending.

When a given one of the motions listed is immediately pending, then (a) any other motion appearing above it in the list is in order, unless a condition stated opposite the other motion causes that motion to be out of order, and (b) motions listed below the given motion, which are not already pending, are out of order (except for the application of amend or the previous question to certain motions ranking above them).

Nominations and Elections

A nomination is the presentation of the name of a person to the assembly as a nominee for an office to be filled.

Most organizations have detailed provisions for nominating and electing officers in the bylaws or other governing rules. Such details usually include the method of nominations, time of nominations, time and method of election and details of installation (if this is observed).

Listed below are the most frequently used methods.

1. Nominations From the Floor.

- a. In order when the presiding officer calls for them.
- b. Require no second.
- c. The presiding officer repeats the names of the nominees and the secretary records them.
- d. When the presiding officer is sure that every opportunity has been given for nominations, the presiding officer may declare the nominations closed. It is in order for any member to move to close nominations; the motion requires a two-thirds vote. Nominations may be reopened by a motion and a majority vote.

2. Nominations by a Nominating Committee.

- a. The nominating committee shall be elected by the organization according to the rules of the organization (bylaws, policy rules, parliamentary authority).

- b. The nominating committee shall submit to the organization, at the prescribed time, the names of nominees proposed for office (copies to Presiding Officer and Secretary).
- c. Following the report of the nominating committee, the presiding officer shall call for nominations from the floor. When no further nominations are presented, the presiding officer may declare the nominations closed or entertain a motion to close nominations.
- d. The report of the nominating committee is never adopted. (Voting is the act of adoption.)
- e. The membership of the organization may be informed of the names of proposed nominees before the meeting at which the committee submits its report. This should be written into the bylaws or standing rules if the procedure is acceptable.

Elections

Being nominated to office does not within itself put a person in office. Nominees must be elected. To be elected to office involves member voting. The usual methods of voting following the closing of nominations are as follows.

1. Voice Vote: Election may be by voice vote unless a ballot vote is required. (The motion to instruct the secretary to cast the ballot is not good procedure.)
 - a. Nominees are voted on in the order in which they are nominated.

- b. Tellers may be appointed to assist with the count of votes and report to presiding officer.
- c. The presiding officer officially announces the result and declares the election.

2. Ballot Vote:

- a. When a ballot vote on nominees is required or expedient, it is important to make the necessary preparation for ballots, ballot boxes, time allotment and space as needed.
- b. Tellers to count the ballots should be carefully selected and instructed on correct procedure. Common sense must govern the validity of ballots if no rules exist. Three is the usual number of tellers, but size of organization may determine number.
- c. Tellers report the result of the election at the designated time and give copies of the report to the presiding officer and the secretary.
- d. The presiding officer repeats the results and declares the election.

- 3. Electronic Voting – Bylaws must have provision for types of voting, especially for postal ballots, e-mail and facsimile. Special care must be taken to prevent fraud when voting electronically. Special rules of order and standing rules should be adopted with specific details on how each will be handled. Unprecedented situations in parliamentary law could arise with common parliamentary law not being applicable to the situation.

Officers assume their duties at the time designated by the organization. Usually the time is stated in the bylaws and provides for taking office at the close of the meeting at which they are elected or following an installation at some future time. If no rules exist in practice or policy, the officers assume their duties upon election. Organizations that have a widely distributed membership and find it difficult to assemble members for elections may opt to hold elections by mail or permit proxy voting. Both of these methods are complicated and require detailed governing rules.

Bylaws and Standing Rules

It is necessary that every permanent organization have rules in order to define the organization, to provide for efficient and equitable transaction of its business and to protect its membership. These rules are generally in the form of bylaws, which deal with basic rules of the organization itself (i.e., name, purpose, etc.), and standing rules, which deal with the administration of the organization. It is the recommended practice that the basic rules be combined in a single instrument called “bylaws.”

An organization that is incorporated, to meet legal requirements, will have Articles of Incorporation, with bylaws and standing rules. Otherwise, bylaws and standing rules are the recommended form for rules of an organization today.

There should be a committee to prepare proposed bylaws. (Note – If a qualified Parliamentarian is available, the assistance of one may be helpful in developing the proposed bylaws.) When completed, copies of the proposed bylaws should be given to every member in advance (at least one to two weeks) of the meeting at which they are to be considered and action taken.

At the meeting at which the proposed bylaws are to be considered, a motion is made to adopt the proposed bylaws (usually made by the Committee Chairman or a member of the bylaws committee).

The bylaws are read one Article at a time, discussed and amended before going to the next Article. After all Articles have been discussed, it is good procedure for the presiding officer to ask if there are any further amendments to any of the Articles discussed prior to the vote on the motion to adopt the bylaws. A majority vote is necessary to adopt the bylaws. Note: Bylaws become effective immediately upon their adoption unless otherwise stated.
