

Filling Your Extension Toolkit: Review Activities

Fast Blast

This review game requires teams to pose questions that “blast” away the other teams – questions that require a good understanding of content covered. In other words, no wimpy questions!

The facilitator writes all the questions ahead of time (or throughout the day) or assigns teams to write questions re: chunks of the content throughout the day. Questions should be written on cards. Team A reads their question to Team B who has a set amount of time to answer. Correct answers can earn a certain number of points; wrong answers result in a loss of points.

Required Materials Facilitation Tips

- Flipcharts and markers
- Remember, you only have 15 minutes. So, quickly introduce the exercise and get started.
- Teams tend to enjoy it more if it is competitive and small prizes are awarded. Think this through – you might need to keep scores and tally them up.
- The facilitator needs to make summary comments, tying all the review together and transitioning to the next day.
