

Theft can ruin your family vacation. Pick pockets, credit card fraud, identity theft – consumers are more vulnerable when they travel. Tourists are often targets. Take steps to keep your family finances secure while traveling. According to the Federal Trade Commission, 2.98 million consumers submitted reports about fraud, identity theft and other types of consumer concerns, with a loss of $905 million to fraud in 2017. Take action to lower your risk of theft and fraud.

Here are 5 tips to safely manage your family vacation spending:

1. Carry a limited amount of cash. It's a good idea to have some cash on hand but limit the amount you carry. If you're a victim of theft, cards can be cancelled and replaced but your cash is lost forever.
2. Take a limited number of cards. If your purse or wallet is stolen, you'll have fewer cards to cancel and fewer opportunities for the thief to make fraudulent charges. If a card is stolen, you'll need to provide the financial institution with the card number. For the cards you take on vacation, have the card numbers with you but stored in a secure location.
3. Protect your card information. Scammers use cameras, keypad overlays, and skimming devices to capture the information from your card's magnetic strip without your knowledge and get your PIN. Don't use ATM's or other card readers if they look as if they've been tampered with. Cover the number pad with your other hand as you enter your PIN.
4. Notify your bank that you're traveling. Some banks or credit card companies will put a "hold" on your card if they see charges from an unfamiliar location.
5. Use a pre-paid travel card. Many credit card companies offer pre-paid cards. These are typically purchased at your bank. You decide how much money to "load" on the card before you leave.

Learn more about consumer safety, identity theft, and fraud from the Federal Trade Commission at <http://www.consumer.ftc.gov/topics/privacy-identity>

Laura Hendrix, Ph.D, AFC®; Accredited Financial Counselor
Associate Professor -Personal Finance and Consumer Economics

uaexMoney is your source for reliable information. Connecting trusted research to the adoption of best practices, we are a catalyst of prosperity. Visit www.uaex.edu/Money.
Follow uaexMoney on Facebook and Twitter.

The Arkansas Cooperative Extension Service offers its programs to all eligible persons regardless of race, color, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age, disability, marital or veteran status, genetic information, or any other legally protected status, and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

