72 percent of Americans believe their accounts are secure with only usernames and passwords, yet every two seconds there is another victim of identity fraud. Your usernames and passwords are not enough to keep your accounts secure. You have enough to worry about, so what can you do about it?

Luckily, there’s a simple and quick way to put you in control of your personal information and keep your key accounts like email, banking and social media safer - it's called strong authentication.

Visit LockDownYourLogin.com to learn more:

https://www.lockdownyourlogin.com/

You are encouraged to share these materials with others, including your family, friends and neighbors. If you have any questions about our activities in October or suggestions on how to improve our cybersecurity efforts, please contact your CyberSecurity Team.

CyberSecurity Team:
Sam Boyster
Diana Morian
Russell Wilson

Last weeks’ archived emails and attachments.